Immerse them in the waters of your life and love. Seal them with the oil of gladness and strength. Illuminate their path with the light of your hope. Clothe them with goodness, kindness, and compassion. May their celebration be just the beginning of a long and fruitful journey with you. Amen.

Please pray for Mary Laflamme, Rita Bonanno, Grace Cain, and Lucy Girardi whose Funeral Masses were recently celebrated at our Parishes. May their soul and the souls of all our faithful departed rest in peace.

Little Things That make a Church Welcoming

For many of us perhaps its been a long time since we were a new comer to a church community. It could be decades ago since you first walked into St. Monica or St. Lucy Church. Can you remember that day and what your impressions were? Were they good, or perhaps not so? I suppose it couldn't have been too bad of an experience because you are still here!

As a priest who has served in several parishes over the last decade, I have experienced that feeling of being new perhaps more than most of you. I can remember my free Saturdays as a seminarian when I attended mass "off campus" at parishes nearby just to remind myself that my priestly life would be in parishes and that I wouldn't be in a seminary environment forever. It never ceased to amaze me that the "regulars" attending mass in those parishes in Boston never introduced themselves to me, a newcomer 30 something at mass on a weekday. If I said hello they would reciprocate but never did anyone approach me and ask my name or offer theirs to me. They didn't ask if I were a father of a family new to the area. Did I just get transferred by my employer to Boston? None of these questions were ever asked. It always struck me as odd that it never happened once, not even out of a curiosity that could fall far short of Christian love.

Sometimes now on my day off I attend Mass undercover. I enjoy praying the mass and experiencing it from time to time the way you do each week, especially when I travel. Last week I was at a parish in the Hartford area at a Friday morning mass and it was the same thing. No welcome, no proactive hello just a smile and a reply to my proactive hello. How do we expect people to be moved to join our parishes if we seem indifferent to their presence among us?

As I was running on the treadmill this morning at the gym I thought about the fact that everyone in that gym was there for the same reason all staring in the same direction while running, watching big TV screens and perhaps listening to headphones, next to one another but entirely disconnected. It can feel the same at movies, we are next to each other, there for the same reason, but not connected in any real way.

Do we come to church with the same mindset that we approach the gym or the movie cinema? I know habits can be hard to break but lets be hospitable. A smile costs nothing, a proactive hello and a polite question to a newcomer can open doors and deliver the message you are happy that person is there and hope to see them again! Move over in the pew. If you sit on the end of a pew with the whole middle section empty you are sending a strong message that you don't expect people to want to fill our church and that you don't want to share space. Nothing could be more of a turnoff to new people. Don't wait to be asked to slide over to the middle or insist people crawl over you.

At St. Monica, keep the crying room empty except for families of young children who need it, it is not a personal space to be used to stay far away from others. If a child does cry smile at the child and its parents! A church with crying children is a healthy happy growing church. One without them is a dying church. "I was a stranger and you welcomed me" are the words Christ says will be spoken to us at our judgement, if our judgment is a favorable one. They are words I hope to hear. How about you?

Peace,

Fr. Bill
